

Like most things these days, communications networking has become a commodity. The market is overflowing with an over-abundance of wired and wireless service providers who are more than happy to provide you with traditional connection-based services that connect the geographic dots between all your operations.

PUT SOME LIFE IN YOUR BUSINESS COMMUNICATIONS

But your communications network is critical to your business. It's the heart of your operations and the key to success in today's hyper-competitive market. So you need more than traditional connect the dots approaches. You need to breathe some life into your communications infrastructure and ensure it is always healthy enough to maintain the flow of all that information between your employees and with your partners and suppliers.

Viva Networks provides vendor and technology neutral, end-to-end managed network services and networking solutions that take business communications networking to the next level. We go beyond traditional connectivity offerings to ensure the reliability, performance and security of business-critical communications and IT networks, wherever and whenever you need them.

Take Your Business Communications to the Next Level

With Viva Networks in your corner, you can simplify the process, reduce the cost, and eliminate the risk associated with creating, deploying, maintaining, and managing efficient and secure wide area, high speed data, voice and multimedia networks and services.

Our managed network services and networking solutions reduce network downtime at the network, desktop and application level that can negatively impact your business productivity. And they are specifically designed for medium and large enterprises and government agencies that rely on communications networks for local and remote operations, but don't have the resources to effectively manage network and IT infrastructures.

GO BEYOND TRADITIONAL NETWORK OFFERINGS

Viva Networks provides complete, end-to-end fixed terrestrial and satellite-based network provisioning, monitoring, maintenance and management services, as well as value-added, enterprise-level managed IT infrastructure services. And all of these services can be customized to fit your specific needs, not some service provider's idea of what those needs should be.

With Viva Networks as your strategic communications networking partner, your business-critical networks, applications and services will always be available over a wide area network infrastructure designed specifically to improve your competitive position. You'll be able to easily scale your network to evolve with your needs as your business grows. Plus, you can rest assured in the knowledge that an experienced team of network infrastructure, provisioning, monitoring and maintenance experts is always available, should you need it. But you won't.

All our networks are designed and built based on our extensive experience architecting and deploying business-critical communications and IT networks for medium and large organizations just like yours. And they are backed by advanced, field-proven network monitoring and maintenance solutions designed to ensure the ongoing availability, reliability and security of an end-to-end, wide area, high speed network infrastructure.

Eliminate the Hassle, Reap the Rewards

Ultimately, what we do is provide you with peace of mind. Our partnership approach to networking solutions and managed network services makes the experienced Viva Networks team a virtual network operations department for your organization. We are dedicated to improving the reliability and security of your integrated communications network, and eliminating the delays caused by unplanned network outages so you can maintain the flow of critical information.

By partnering with Viva Networks, you eliminate the need for in-house network management resources, as well as the hassle of managing wide area, high speed data, voice and multimedia networks and services. And you offload business network support requirements so your organization can focus on managing the business rather than managing a communications network.

Leverage the best communications technologies

Our managed network services are designed to ensure you are fully exploiting the best network technologies systems and solutions for your needs.

We provide complete, end-to-end fixed terrestrial and satellite-based network provisioning, monitoring, maintenance and management services, all of which can be complemented by value-added, enterprise-level managed IT infrastructure services. We have the experience and expertise to help you leverage any type of network technology, including satellite, Digital Subscriber Line (DSL), Wi-Fi®, and WiMAX. And all our services are backed by complete support provided through a dedicated network operations center equipped with the all the latest tools required to monitor and measure network performance 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Plus, we offer a complete set of performance management tools to monitor, manage and enhance the performance of WAN communications.

With Viva Networks, you get more than the connections. You get the peace of mind provided by knowing your business communications network is always there when you need it.

For more information about Viva Networks, visit www.viva-networks.com

